Dear Recipient

Hello, my name is Nicholas Reich, you can call me Nic. I'm here today to introduce myself and inquire about a job posting on your site it is for the Senior Technical Writer contract. I graduated from Full Sail University in 2019 with a bachelor's in science from their Mobile development program. I continued with a master's certificate in media communications and hope to also attend the Master's in Computer Science in the future.

It was during my mobile development studies that I first started following the Web 3 space, before the crypto explosion in March 2020. Many lives changed that year with that explosion in crypto and the pandemic one was mine. I had just graduated and I had created an app that I was intending on launching before the pandemic lead me to rethink some things with the explosion of crypto going on I was inspired to really start focusing on the web 3 space.
